

HEIMAN HABITAT HOLISTIC SOLUTIONS (H³S)

Prepare, Respond, Prevail Services

Studies indicate that too many people are spending too much time wishing that they had the capacity to 'get back to basics' but with insufficient grasp as to how best to achieve this. The growth of 'tag-along' 4WD tours, as well as the popularity of reality TV shows focusing around outdoorsmanship and survival, underscores the desire of the market to learn more. Heiman Habitat Holistic Solutions (H³S) provides its clients with the tools that will fuel their confidence to go bush, while emphasising their residual individual responsibility to prepare and respond appropriately in order to prevail in the face of the unexpected.

Heiman Habitat specialises in advice and guidance on: bush craft, survival craft and field craft.

WORKSHOPS

H³S facilitates tailored programs on bushcraft, field craft, survival craft and remote area preparation in partnership with established outdoor service providers including outdoor recreational clubs (4WD clubs, bushwalkers, archers, etc) and tour companies. Customised to meet the specific interests and capabilities of our clients, H³S bespoke workshops cover such diverse topics as the basic elements of survival and first aid; emergency preparation and first response; bush and astral navigation; and actions on becoming lost or separated.

FREELANCE WRITING

Heiman Habitat's Managing Director and Principal Consultant Scott Heiman is routinely published in nationally circulated periodicals (eg. 4x4 Australia, Archery Action) as well as in government journals. With a background in Environmental Science, the Australian infantry, adult instruction, historical analysis and domestic security, Scott offers a unique perspective. His commentaries range across the practical, policy and regulatory issues that arise from recreational and professional outdoor pursuits including the associated safety, environmental impact and pest management issues.

BESPOKE RETAIL

Heiman Habitat prides itself on innovation and invention. Based on our analysis of the markets' needs, regulatory requirements and historical necessity, H³S offers a range of bespoke retail items to the outdoor market. Among our suppliers and partners are recognised industry leaders, small Australian businesses, overseas suppliers and local artisans who have the capacity to supply products that are tailored for our client base at an affordable price. Our unique product range demonstrates our commitment to making the outdoors accessible to clients ranging from the recreational bushwalker to those engaged in professional outdoor industries.

PRODUCT AND PEER REVIEWS

Sourcing independent product evaluation and assessment of the creative and professional work of others are key to the achievement of quality outcomes and continuous improvement. These forms of evaluation are particularly important when the equipment or people under review are operating in fields outside your immediate area of expertise. Heiman Habitat's Managing Director and Principal Consultant Scott Heiman is experienced in diverse fields of endeavour – from Environmental Science, survival, use of force in law enforcement to the humane destruction of animals. This makes H³S your 'goto' resource when you want to test your facts with the assurance that all reviews will be backed by factual analysis combined with practical experience. Truthful advice and guidance is delivered in an easy to understand format for the everyday punter, sceptic and/or professional.
